

FIRST SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Bless the Lord, O my soul! O Lord my God, how great you are!

O Lord my God, how great you are,
On the waters you establish your dwelling.
How many are your works, O Lord!
All of these look to you
You hide your face, they are dismayed;

clothed in majesty and honour
You make the clouds your chariot;
In wisdom you have made them all.
to give them their food in due season.
you take away their breath, they die, returning to the dust from which they came.

wrapped in light as with a robe!
you ride on the wings of the wind.
The earth is full of your creatures. Vast and wide is the span of the sea,
You give it, they gather it up;
You send forth your Spirit, and they are created,

You stretch out the heavens like a tent.
You make the winds your messengers, flame and fire your servants.
with its creeping things past counting, living things great and small.
you open wide your hand, they are well fed.
and you renew the face of the earth.
